SEVEN ENTER
PRIMARY RACE
FOR GOVERNORVANDENBERG HAS NO OPPOSITION
FOR SENATE

Lansing, April 23 (AP)—The Michigan political scene moved from "possibilities" to "actualities" today as filing for the June 18 primaries closed and election battles shaped up for several major state offices.

The promised four-way struggle for the Republican gubernatorial nomination took definite form with Lieut. Gov. Vernon J. Brown of Mason, Kim Sigler of Hastings, former Ingham county grand juror, Mayor Edward J. Jeffries of Detroit and Raymond J. Kelly of Detroit, former American Legion commander, in the race.

On the Democratic side, former Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner of Birmingham, William J. Cody of Highland Park, Wayne circuit court commissioner, and George D. Schermerhorn of Reading, were candidates.

Lone Democrats File
Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Grand Rapids was unopposed for renomination on the Republican ticket and the single Democratic candidate was James H. Lee of Detroit, assistant corporation counsel.

Four men sought the selection as the Republican candidate for lieutenant governor. They were Howard Nugent of Bad Axe, speaker of the House of Representatives, State Senator George N. Higgins of Ferndale, Eugene C. Keyes of Dearborn and Owen J. Cleary of Ypsilanti. The lone Democratic nominee was Osmond Kelly of Flint.

The list for state office who filed nominating petitions with the secretary of state includes:

Strike Of Railway
Express Heads For
White House Action

Washington, April 23 (AP)—A threatened nationwide strike of 65,000 employees of the Railway Express Agency, Inc., headed today for possible White House action.

The National (Railway) Mediation Board said it had received from George M. Harrison, grand president of the AFL Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Workers, formal notice that a strike for higher wages had been set to start a minute after midnight Thursday. Under railroad labor act procedure, the Mediation Board normally refers such situations to the White House with a request for presidential appointment of a fact-finding board to investigate and recommend settlements.

The union members seek a wage increase of 16 cents an hour to match a raise recently awarded railway workers by the National Mediation Board. The agency has offered the employees an increase of 10 cents an hour.

State Prison
Ouster Case
Is Reviewed

BY ROBERTA APPLIGATE

Lansing, April 23 (AP)—The state civil service commission today heard Garrett Heyns, state corrections director, outline his case against the seven ousted officials of the state prison of Southern Michigan, six of whom are appealing to civil service to have the dismissal set aside.

Heyns, reviewing recommendations he made to Attorney General John R. Dethmers last summer while the investigation which led to the dismissals was in progress, said Deputy Warden George I. Francis was the only one of seven top officials whose discharge he did not recommend.

The commission today started the second week of hearings, after a week's recess.

Heyns, summarizing his charges at Dethmers request, named the seven ousted officials:

1—Former Warden Harry H. Jackson—"Running a prison is a matter of administration, and you have got to have the staff working and working well. This didn't seem to be the case. The warden should know what is going on, and Jackson didn't seem to—there was not a sufficient attempt made to run the prison as it should be."

2—Former Deputy Warden Francis—"I thought under more ideal conditions Francis could handle the job. It appeared that he was being by-passed."

3—Former Assistant Deputy Warden D. C. Pettit (who withdrew his appeal a few days before the hearing started)—"The evidence presented in connection with the escape of Joseph Medley, stories of his drinking with inmates, and the fact he was not on the job as much as he should have been seemed reason enough."

Medley escaped from the prison while on a trip to Jackson with a guard, on a pass authorized by Pettit and dressed in civilian clothes supplied by Joseph Poirer, former inmate, accountant. The guard testified Pettit and Poirer delayed notifying Francis of Medley's escape.

4—Poirer—"My recommendation was based on his actions in regard to the Medley escape, and his failure to inform the deputy that Medley was dressed out."

5—"H. C. Watson, former records clerk—I was in Chuck's corner at the start and thought he was a hard worker, but it became evident that his attitude was 'We have to live with these people,' and he sent a letter that amounted to insubordination on a matter of policy."

6—Walter L. Wilson, former chief guard inspector—"He permitted visits with inmates by four Detroiters who should not have been admitted to the prison (because they were former inmates) without the warden's authority."

7—Richard T. Riley, former athletic director—"He was not on the job and did not take his activities seriously."

Heyns testified that Jackson was

FORGER DRAWS
SWIFT VERDICTTwo Elderly Women Die
Mysteriously; Estate
Papers Tamped

San Francisco, April 23 (AP)—Alfred Leonard Cline, 56, was convicted today of forging papers in the estate of two of the four elderly women who died mysteriously while associating with the ex-convict and former choir singer.

After the swift verdict, the trial judge disclosed the white-haired defendant, during the course of the trial, had offered to plead guilty in order to get a shorter sentence. The offer was rejected.

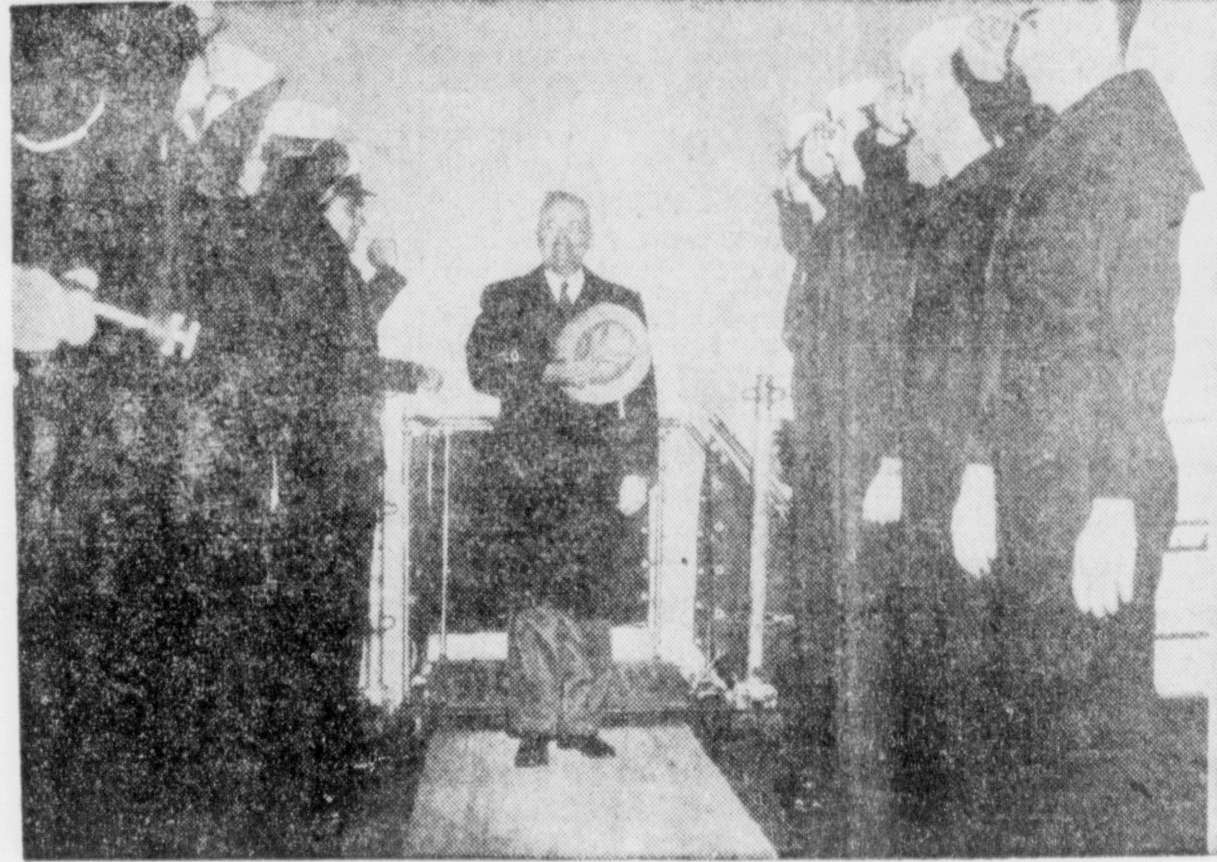

Cline was convicted on all nine counts of forgery. A grand theft charge was dismissed earlier.

The jury returned the verdict less than two hours after taking it under deliberation. They had called for study exhibits which the prosecution contended were out and out forgeries of signatures of the two women.

Judge Herbert C. Kaufman set Saturday for sentence. The maximum term would be 126 years.

The tight-lipped Cline, who refused to testify and offered no witness in his behalf, was charged with forgery involving the estates of two women who married him—Mrs. Elizabeth Hunt Lewis Cline, of Oakland, Calif., and Mrs. Eva Delora Krebs Cline, of Chicago. Both died and were cremated by Cline's order, Mrs. Lewis Cline in Jacksonville, and Mrs. Krebs Cline either in Dallas, Texas, or Portland, Ore.

Cline under a murder charge in Dallas and currently is the subject of investigation by a San Francisco grand jury.

Thomas Says Reuther
Is Trying To Freeze
Him Out Of CIO Union

Chicago, April 23 (AP)—Vice President R. J. Thomas of the CIO United Auto Workers told reporters tonight that President Walter P. Reuther proposes to take over Thomas' post as director of the union's competitive shop division, and to retain the union's General Motors directorship.

Thomas said Reuther had recommended himself for two of the four major union assignments at the meeting of the union's executive board today.

CHECK-CASHING
WOMAN CAUGHTMother Of 3 Robs Mail
Of Bank Statements
For Identification

Detroit, April 23 (AP)—Mrs. Harry T. Czarniecki, 27-year-old mother of three children, was taken back to Cleveland on mail theft charges today after what postal inspectors described as "her last check-cashing excursion."

Inspector Donald Schoof said the woman made a practice of hopping a plane at Cleveland and flying into another city, leaving her children with their father while she "went down town." Then, he said, she would search apartment house mail boxes until she found a bank statement to use for identification in cashing worthless checks.

Her operations have been traced into seven cities in three states, the inspector said, and involve transactions of "between $5,000 and $10,000 in bad checks." He listed the cities as Toledo, Columbus, Cincinnati, Syracuse, Albany, Cleveland and Detroit.

Mrs. Czarniecki was recognized by a salesgirl in a Detroit department store as she attempted to cash a $52 check and was arrested by detectives Ruben Sutter and Carl Braun of the bad check detail. The salesgirl told Schoof she remembered the woman's picture on a post circular.

Romanian Aviator's
Body Found; Poison
Drunk From Bottle

Las Vegas, Nev., April 23 (AP)—The body of Alex Panapa of Beverly Hills, Calif., former Romanian aviator and Olympic bobsled contestant, was found in rugged desert country 16 miles south of here today and Sheriff Lynn Jones said he had drunk poison from a vacuum bottle.

In a hospital here, his wife, the former Jean Haeker, whom he married in Las Vegas last March 30, was grief-stricken. Two notes addressed to her and found on Panapa's body protested his love for her and referred to the failure of their romance.

Another note of the same sort was found in Panapa's expensive coupe when it was discovered last Wednesday in the same locality where his body was located today by sheriff's deputies making a final search. The officers expressed belief that he had been dead for six days.

Thomas said it proved his contention of yesterday that Reuther seeks to "freeze me out of the union."

The statement to reporters came after arrival of presidents of several Detroit locals for the purpose, a spokesman said, of "seeking harmony" in the parent organization.

Thomas lost the UAW presidency to Reuther after a bitter convention fight last month.

At a press conference after the board's closed meeting today, Reuther said the board had named a subcommittee to confer on his assignment recommendations, but he declined to disclose them. He said the subcommittee would report to the full board tomorrow.

The subcommittee, Reuther said, included Thomas, Secretary-treasurer George F. Addes and Ford Division Director Richard T. Leonard—generally regarded as leaders of the anti-Reuther faction; Reuther and two others to be chosen by the president. The latter were not named.

Thomas said Reuther seeks to establish "dictatorship" in the union by holding the General Motors and competitive shop directorships and installing men of his own choice in the education, publicity and skilled trades division.

The vice president said Reuther plans to assign his brother, Victor Reuther, to the education division.

TRIBUTES PAID
HARLAN STONEFlags To Be Flown Half
Mast For 30 Days By Order Of Truman

Washington, April 23 (AP)—The nation will go into official mourning for 30 days for its chief justice, Harlan Fiske Stone.

President Truman late today directed that the flag be flown at half mast on the government's buildings everywhere for the period in recognition of Stone's "eminent and varied services as a public servant."

A hushed throng gathered in the pillared supreme court chamber today in tribute to Stone while a sorrowing capital speculated on his successor—mentioning most often Associate Justices Robert H. Jackson and William O. Douglas.

The funeral of the 73-year-old chief justice will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday in the Washington Cathedral and burial will be here. Stone was stricken yesterday, and died at his home at 6:45 p. m. of a massive cerebral hemorrhage—the same ailment to which President Roosevelt succumbed just one year ago this month. It was the Democrat Roosevelt who had elevated the Republican Stone to chief justice in 1941.

If Mr. Truman selects the new chief justice from among the senior members of the present court the nation would have its first Democratic chief justice in a quarter of a century. Stone's predecessor, Charles Evans Hughes, and the late William Howard Taft before him, were Republicans. The last Democratic chief justice was Edward D. White.

RUSSIA LOSES
U. N. FIGHT ON
IRANIAN CASEGROMYKO REFUSES TO DISCUSS IT
ANY MORE

BY FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

New York, April 23 (AP)—Russia by an 8-to-3 vote lost a bitter battle today to take the Iranian case off the United Nations Security Council agenda and Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko thereupon grimly served notice that he would not discuss Iran again at a council meeting.

Climaxing a two-hour session at which it was obvious to a packed chamber that the majority wanted a decision promptly, eight delegates kept their hands down when the chairman called for a vote on a French compromise proposal to turn the matter over to the U. N. secretary general for a report.

Action Confused

Russia, who associated itself with the French proposal in the final confused action, Poland and France were the only delegates voting for the compromise.

Russia's original demand, contained in a letter dated April 6, for elimination of the Iranian question from the agenda immediately, was not voted upon. The chairman, Egypt's Dr. Hafez Afifi Pasha, held that Gromyko's brief statement in which he associated himself with the French proposal made a second vote unnecessary.

The Russian delegate made this statement: "In view of the agreement reached between the Soviet government and the Iranian government on all questions and in view of the withdrawal of its appeal to the Security Council by the Iranian government, the Soviet delegation considers that the decision of the Security Council to retain the Iranian question on its agenda is contrary to the charter of the United Nations."

Spanish Question Next
The Soviet delegation is therefore not able to participate in the discussion of the Iranian question in the Security Council.

While Gromyko did not leave the chamber before adjournment today, his declaration made it appear certain that whenever the council discusses the Iranian case again he will not attend. However, it was considered likely he would be present when the council meets next at 3 p. m. Thursday to resume debate on Poland's charges against Spain.

The council by its action today re-affirmed its decision of April 4 to shelve the Iranian case until May 6, when Russia has promised to have all Red army soldiers out of Iran.

Gromyko in his final arguments maintained that the United States was acting "illogically" in opposing the Russian move to take the case off the agenda forthwith. He also accused some members of the council, not named in his remarks, of attempting to "sacrifice the charter in order to give an opportunity for further discussion of this so-called Iranian question."

Sietlinus Impatient
Edward R. Sietlinus, Jr., the United States delegate, obviously impatient at the long debates on the Iranian case, spoke briefly to put the United States again on record against dropping the dispute at this time.

Australia, Great Britain, Mexico, the Netherlands, China and Brazil quickly voiced support of the American stand. Seven affirmative votes of the 11 council members are required to approve any proposal.

French Delegate Henri Bonnet was joined by Poland in his attempt to have the U. N. secretary general report to the council for its subsequent report to the general assembly.

Commission Takes
Up Oil Pollution
Of Detroit River

Lansing, April 23 (AP)—The state stream control commission today called a Wayne county conference May 15 on control of oil waste which has been polluting the Detroit river.

Milton P. Adams, the commission's executive secretary, said that state officials and representatives of 30 industries in the area would attend.

"A great deal of damage is being done as a result of oil getting into the river from sewers," Adams said. "We think that oil could be conserved at its source at a profit to the industry concerned."

The conference will be held in Detroit.

Fascist Band
Steals Body
Of Mussolini

(By The Associated Press)

Milan, April 23 (AP)—Swift, expert grave robbers dug the remains of Benito Mussolini from his unmarked pauper's grave in the dead of night, a municipal communique said today, and officials disclosed finding a letter which said the body was taken by the "Democratic Fascist Party."

The corpse was taken last night, and the open coffin was left at the grave.

The letter, signed by the party's "central directive committee," said "Ill Duce is again among us. His mortal remains have been taken in custody by the Democratic Fascist Party."

The party took the body, from which "the light of eternity is spreading," because it no longer could bear "the cannibal slurs made by human dregs organized in the Communist Party," the letter declared, concluding:

"The time will come in which Benito Mussolini in his coffin, kissed by our sun, will parade through the streets of Italy, and all the roses of the world and all the tears of our women will not be enough to give extreme greetings of the country to this great son."

One of Mussolini's boots was found by the open coffin, said Giovanni Cavazza, chief of the Milan "stato civile."

(A dispatch to the Rome newspaper Giornale D'Italia said part of a leg was encased in the boot.)

For almost a year the bullet-riddled, savagely-beaten body of the once pompous Duce had lain in Maggiore cemetery, its location known reportedly only to a few persons. Details of the burial, after Mussolini's capture, summary trial and execution by partisans, had been sparse. The place of interment had been kept secret from all but a few to prevent any attempt to dig up the body.

ROXAS LEADING
PHILIPPINE VOTECandidate Scurries Into Hiding To Escape
Kidnapers

Manila, Wednesday, April 24 (AP)—Manuel Roxas widened his lead over President Sergio Osmeña for presidency of the Philippines today on the basis of unofficial returns from 195 of Manila's 501 precincts.

The figures:
Roxas—27,044.
Osmeña—10,136.

Early returns were largely from Manila, which indicated an apparent strong trend for the president of the senate over Osmeña. No figures were available for Hilario Canino Moncada, a perennial presidential candidate who sought election on the basis of a dominion status for the islands.

The dynamic Roxas awaited the outcome in seclusion, having scurried into hiding last night on reports that an attempt would be made to kidnap him.

Election day was unusually quiet as nearly 3,000,000 voters selected the officers who will lead them in the first years of the republic which comes into being July 4.

There were some reports of violence, however, and a dispatch to the Manila Bulletin reported some trouble. Reported incidents had masked men grabbing ballot boxes, and 300 armed men seizing a precinct in Pias, a village in the municipality of Panapa, a province north of Nueva Ecija, police guards in Pias were captured but later released.

Office Blows Up
At Lake Odessa;
Dentist Injured

Ionis, Mich., April 23 (AP)—Dr. George Morse, 45, Lake Odessa dentist, was seriously injured in an explosion which destroyed a two-story office building early today.

The blast was believed to have been caused by a small dental plate vulcanizing compressor which failed to automatically shut off.

Mrs. Ronald Holdridge, a tenant on the second floor, escaped injury.

Mrs. Holdridge said she summoned Dr. Morse when she smelled rubber burning in his office. Dr. Morse had just opened his office door when the explosion occurred. He was blown into the basement by the blast and suffered third degree burns on his hands, face and neck.

PEACE TREATY
SESSION WILL
TACKLE CRISISUNITY OF BIG FOUR
AT STAKE; BYRNES
ASKS PRAYERS

Washington, April 23 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes took off for the foreign ministers conference at Paris today on a peace mission so critical that he suggested to newsmen he was "standing in the need of prayer."

Byrnes was scheduled to arrive at Paris in 17½ hours—about noon Paris time—and meet with Foreign Ministers Molotov of Russia, Bevin of Britain and Bidault of France on Thursday. The purpose of the meeting is to try to break the big four deadlock over making peace treaties with Italy, the Balkan States and Finland in order to speed removal of occupation forces from all those countries and bring a real atmosphere of peace to Europe.

May Upset Harmony
Beyond that, at least some of Byrnes' advisers think, the unity of the great powers in peacetime is at stake, for if they cannot jointly work out peace treaties, they may have to tackle the problem on some sort of separate basis. This in turn might upset such harmony as they have thus far been able to generate within the United Nations.

Byrnes is known to feel that chances for breaking the deadlock are slender, depending chiefly on Russia's willingness to make major concessions on her ambitions in the Mediterranean area. The chances for increasing disunity among the big powers are very great.

One of the department's last actions before the secretary took off from Washington airport at 12:05 p. m. EST, was to disclose that it has received official confirmation from Prime Minister Ahmed Qavam, of Iran, that the Tehran government has invoked its rights of censorship of outgoing news under a 1932 Madrid treaty, but is evidently trying not to make a drastic application of censorship.

Qavam expressed his views to American representatives in Tehran after United States objections to all censorship had been warranted to him and he had been warned that the American public would lose confidence in reports which had to pass through censorship.

What Qavam said was interpreted by officials here as further strengthening their suspicions that his government was acting under Russian pressure in applying censorship to foreign correspondents.

Task Complicated
To the extent that these latest developments in Iran reflect political difficulties involving Russia they complicate Byrnes' task in Paris. The immediate objective at the Paris meeting is to break the deadlock over peace problems but the real question, it is felt here, is whether some sort of understanding can be reached with Russia over the kind of world the Russians want to create out of World War II.

Another issue on which it appears likely Byrnes will at least approach a showdown in Paris is that of control of the Mediterranean.

PLAN ECONOMY AUTO MODELS
Prices To Be Lower Than On Any Cars Now In Production

BY DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

Detroit, April 24. (P)—Half a dozen or more lightweight, economy model automobiles, designed to sell in a price range lower than any now in production, probably will make their appearance next year.

This will be one of the results of the recent disclosure by Chevrolet and Ford that their earlier-announced cars in that field will be introduced in 1947.

Although none of the other long-established car makers has admitted plans for such production all are known to have been on experiments with models devoid of price-increasing refinements, gadgets and frills that competition has brought from year to year to the vehicles in the present "low price" brackets.

There may be some "small" cars—units of smaller wheel base, wheels and engine. So far as has been disclosed, however, the models projected by Chevrolet and Ford are to be full-sized vehicles.

Will Be Lighter
To support the theory that a tremendous market awaits a new "economy-utility" car, trade sources assert that the gradual increase in production costs and the steady competitive advance in styling have taken just about all the so-called "lower priced" cars out of that classification.

The potentialities of a new lower-priced car market, these sources say, are too far-reaching to ignore. So it is a fair assumption that by the time Chevrolet and Ford bring out their cars in that range, Chrysler, Studebaker, Nash, Hudson, Willys and perhaps even Packard will have competitive models ready.

It is traditional in the car industry that research and experimentation never cease. A large measure of both has been devoted for several years to reducing the weight and production costs and increasing the gasoline-mileage of the nation's motorcars.

Engineering details of the projected Chevrolet and Ford economy models have been kept secret. So, too, have pricing plans. More than a year ago Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Motor Co., announcing the new project, said he hoped to sell the car at around 25 per cent less than the standard Ford model.

More Mileage
None of the manufacturers will know the exact production costs until each has made a thousand or more of the new units.

Industry experts take it for granted that while one or two of the new units may be powered with four-cylinder engines, in the main their power plants will be much lighterweight sixes than now are being built. Ford is known to have been experimenting with a five-cylinder engine, a pancake type and other variations, but has admitted no final decision in this respect.

None of the projected new cars, says the experts, can be termed lower-priced, lighter weight, economy models unless they are built to deliver for less than $1,000, weigh under 2,500 pounds and yield 25 to 30 miles to the gallon of gasoline.

Just where around a thousand pounds is to be eliminated from the overall weight has not been disclosed by the industry's engineers. They are agreed that considerations of cost prohibit the substitution of aluminum and magnesium for steel to any great extent.

One logical assumption, however, is that tubular steel will be used to a greater degree in chassis and frame construction. Chassis and frame may be produced as a single unit.

eral assembly.
Gromyko thus stood alone on his demand that the council take the case off the agenda immediately.
The Russian delegate attacked the United States stand against dropping the case as illogical.
"Irrespective of the fact that the charter gives no proper ground for the retention of this question on the agenda, some members of the council are still trying, in vain, to have it remain on the agenda," Gromyko said.
"These attempts are doomed to failure, Mr. President, and they will only discredit those who make them for they are attempting to sacrifice the charter in order to give an opportunity for further discussion of this so-called Iranian question. Any attempt to make use of the Iranian question for this purpose is doomed to failure and is likely to have the most regrettable consequences."

Gromyko also charged some members of the council, with no names mentioned, "appear to doubt the veracity" of Russia and Iran in declaring that the case had been satisfactorily settled.

STATE PRISON OUSTER CASE IS REVIEWED

"always very cordial" when he made suggestions "but quite often nothing further was done about it."

The commission also heard testimony that eight little pigs were taken from the prison farm and put in the car of an inmate's wife, that Poirier and Francis received gift certificates which inmates bought at a Jackson department store, and that former officials attempted to "frame" a guard to stop a 1941 investigation of themselves. James Tamer of Detroit, a former inmate, said he and another inmate bought two "$10 or $12 hat certificates for Christmas presents for Francis and Poirier."

Tamer also testified that there was "considerable disturbance" at one New Year's Eve party, and that he and several other inmates "secluded" themselves in the deputy's office to get away from it.

Jack George, serving a 20 to 30 year sentence from Pontiac for robbery armed, testified that Pettit arranged with him to fake an escape as a means of discrediting a prison guard whom George testified was "accumulating evidence" to support an investigation of the prison in 1941.

George said that "D. C. (Pettit) was trying to get something on the guard to stop the investigation. He talked to me in his office two or three times. Once Riley was there for a few minutes."

He testified that he was to get the guard to take him out of prison, to visit his mother in Detroit, then run away from the guard but meet Riley in front of a Detroit theater.

The witness made the visit and the escape, he said, but failed to find Riley at the theater, and left the scene. He was arrested by Detroit police about a month later.

George said Wilson came to visit him while in the Detroit jail and "told me to keep my mouth shut and that everything would be all right." He was later transferred to Marquette.

Three members of George's family confirmed the story of his visit to their home, in the guard's custody. Joseph Smrz testified that one evening while he was on the prison farm his wife drove up and two inmates put two bags containing eight little pigs in the car, and that she drove away with them.

He said "I guess they were given me because I'd done a favor for one of the fellows, but I still don't know who called my wife." Five of the pigs were later recovered.

Although Hammerfest, Norway, is farther north than any other town in Europe, its harbor is ice-free all year round because of warm westerly winds and the North Atlantic Drift originating in the Gulf of Mexico. Average January temperature is little below freezing.

In 1562 Sir John Hawkins, the first Briton to engage in African trade, captured 300 Africans whom he sold in the New World as slaves.

These attempts are doomed to failure, Mr. President, and they will only discredit those who make them for they are attempting to sacrifice the charter in order to give an opportunity for further discussion of this so-called Iranian question. Any attempt to make use of the Iranian question for this purpose is doomed to failure and is likely to have the most regrettable consequences.

FORM 42 CLUBS FOR WAR VETS
Organizing Business Is Booming In State; Most Are New

Lansing, April 24. (P)—Michigan veterans of world war II are joining all kinds of organizations from "The Ruptured Duck Club" to "At Ease, Inc."

In the last six months ex-servicemen have done a booming organizing business, records of the state corporation and securities commission indicate. Articles of incorporation have been filed during the period for 42 different veterans organizations as non-profit corporations.

In addition, at least a half dozen new posts each have been formed by the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars along with several new AmVets (American Veterans of World War II) chapters. There were also numerous World War II veterans—Memorial Home associations formed in various communities of the state.

Applications for incorporation show that the ex-servicemen are banding together not only in organizations intended to give veterans "a voice" in community or state affairs but for social and business reasons.

There are 16 groups listed as veterans social clubs in various cities of the state—some called merely veterans club while others go under titles like "Sans Culottes Veterans Club," "Snafu Veterans Club," "At Ease, Inc.," and "The Ruptured Duck Club." Two were designated as bridge clubs.

The list of new organizations has several apparently aiming towards unification of veterans groups including the Michigan Veterans Association, the Independent Veterans Association, the Michigan GI Association, Consolidated War Veterans Council of Michigan, Veterans Affiliated Council, National Veterans of the United States, Univets, and Overseas Veterans organizations.

Some are organized for a special purpose such as the Veterans Flying Club of Detroit, the Veterans Jeep Club, Sanilac County Veterans Athletic Association, and Winged Spartans (a club of former Air Corps members attending Michigan State College). National influence is shown in the American Polish Veterans of World War II, Grand Rapids, and the Polish Veterans Club of Hamtramck.

The organizations registered with the corporation and securities commission is by no means complete, however, since many organizations do not file non-profit corporation applications, Commissioner H. H. Warner, declared.

He said there were many small organizations of veterans which have not requested incorporation.

Loans To 14,234 Veterans In Three States OK'd By VA

The Veterans Administration has guaranteed 14,234 veterans' loans totaling $61,760,078 in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act, it was announced recently by Deputy Administrator Ralph H. Stone at Columbus.

The figures represent the loan volume handled since passage of the act through March 27 by the various regional offices of the Veterans Administration in the three states, which are under jurisdiction of branch office No. 6 at Columbus.

Stone said that loans for homes represent 95 per cent of the volume. In the three-state area, a total of 13,491 veterans borrowed $39,739,602 in home loans. In addition, there have been 162 business loans aggregating $409,870 and 581 farm loans totaling $1,610,606.

Stone said 44 veterans in the three states have paid back in full, loans made to them under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act, earning $66,373 from the $28,000,682 which the Veterans Administration has committed in loan guarantees. The guaranty commitment on the loans represents 45.3 per cent of the total amount of the loans.

According to Robert C. Curry, finance director for the Veterans Administration in the three-state area, greater increases in the number of approved loans are expected as veterans become more fully acquainted with the new liberalized loan guaranty regulations recently completed.

Promoter Is Slain In Gangland Style

Woonsocket, R. I., April 23. (P)—John F. Letendre, 68, reputed horse-betting "plunger" and race track promoter, was slain—gangland style—early today and detectives pursued a theory that enemies may have followed him from Florida.

Letendre, prominent in Rhode Island Republican politics for many years, was killed as he drove towards his home, at a spot where he had to bring his car to a near-stop in order to make a sharp turn.

Medical Examiner Edward L. Myers said Letendre died of brain hemorrhages caused by two .38 calibre bullets.

Police said a man leaped on Letendre's running board and, in gangland style, yanked open the door and sent two slugs from a pistol into the victim's head.

The gunman then sped to a black sedan, in which at least one accomplice was seated, and escaped.

Letendre was a member of the board of directors at Narragansett race track in nearby Pawtucket and former associate in that venture with the late Walter O'Hara. He also was one of the founders of the Gulf Stream Park in Florida.

In addition to running the Hotel Blackstone here, he operated a hotel in Miami, whence he returned only two weeks ago.

The kangaroo is a broad jumper par excellence, but when it comes to high jumping he's not so hot. He can broad jump over 30 feet but has difficulty clearing a four foot fence.

ROADS TO FAVORITE Trout Streams Are Reported Very Good

Munising—All local reports as to roads and fishing were good yesterday. Streams which will yield trout on the first day of the season, Saturday, April 27, are reported low for this time of year, and the prospects of a good day's trout fishing is excellent.

Roads to favorite fishing spots are reported good, also. Included on the list was the Adams Trail which is reported open for traffic a month earlier than usual this year. Adams Trail passes the Tannery, Mailestic, Van Meer and meets the Seney-Grand Marais highway at Beaver Junction.

The Sullivan road is also reported in excellent condition and ready to take the traffic of the first day of trout season.

The issue arises in connection with disposition of the Italian colonies. Russia has asked a trusteeship over Tripolitania. The Russians are willing to see Italy's Dodecanese Islands, once Greek, returned to Greece but do not want them demilitarized. The suspicion here is that eventually the Russians hope for Dodecanese bases to gain a foothold in the eastern Mediterranean guarding the approaches to the Dardanelles.

PLAN CAMPSITE AT WELLS PARK

State Park On Bay Shore
Being Readied For Summer Season

Development of a camp ground at J. W. Wells state park at Cedar River on the shore of Green Bay 30 miles south of Escanaba is now being started, and will accommodate 70 camps when completed, according to O. C. Searl, park superintendent.

The camp ground is located on a point north of the bathing beach, a site once occupied by a CCC camp. The CCC camp buildings are being removed, and one or two will be utilized temporarily by workmen engaged in the development of the camp ground. In past years campers have not found adequate facilities ready for them, and the war interrupted the park development program.

Searl said that running water and electric power will be available to campers, and the first building to be constructed will be a toilet and shower room. The foundation for the building is completed.

Other employees at the park include Oscar Lehto, park ranger, and a second ranger, Joseph Micklovsk of Vukov, will start work May 1. Day labor is also employed in the construction of the camp ground facilities and development of the site.

The park, which totals 518 acres, is now ready for the summer season. Stoves and tables are being placed, and other facilities are in readiness.

The 1946 state park season is expected to be one of the busiest in this first postwar year. Wells state park is rated as one of the finest in the Upper Peninsula, and includes facilities for swimming, picnicking, games, hiking, and group camping. One of the park features is a large playground for children.

Emil Hurja Will Run For Congress

Marquette—Emil Hurja, Crystal Falls man whose "crystal-gazing" political prognostications helped James A. Farley anticipate Roosevelt landslide, announced himself a candidate for Congressman from the 12th district.

Although he has lived in the District of Columbia for a number of years, Hurja has maintained his voting address in Crystal Falls. McDonough of Iron River sought the office over two decades ago.

Ben Westrate of Coopersville, Mich., war veteran and former farm boy, will come to Escanaba soon to take up his work as Delta county 4-H Club leader, he has advised E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent. Westrate wrote Wenner that he may arrive May 2 or 3, but would come here earlier if he were assured of housing for himself and his family.

Westrate will take over the supervision of the 4-H Club program in the county, in which a total of 500 or more boys and girls are enrolled. His appointment is one of three new county club leaders in the Upper Peninsula.

Born in Grand Rapids, Westrate moved to the family farm at Coopersville when he was five years of age. He continued to live there until he entered college, and as a farm boy was active as a 4-H Club member for 10 years, and as a local leader for three years.

Vandenberg Backs Loan

PROSPECTS for congressional approval of the proposed $3,750,000,000 loan to Great Britain have been considerably improved as a result of Senator Vandenberg's unrestrained endorsement of the plan. The Michigan senior senator is nationally recognized as a sensible statesman with a generous understanding of both domestic and international problems.

A few years back, Senator Vandenberg was generally regarded as something of a nationalist and, the New Dealers even accused him of being an isolationist. His record as one of the most influential senators, however, has proved that he is a careful thinker who weighs legislation in the light of American interests but with a broad recognition of the fact that America must assume certain international obligations as the most powerful nation in the world.

Senator Vandenberg's endorsement of the British loan proves definitely, if any proof were needed, that he is not an isolationist. But it is highly significant that the Michigan senator's support for the loan is based not so much on the belief that it is good for Britain alone, but that the loan is good business for America as well. In fact, he emphasizes that it is American self-interest which ought to be the determining factor in considering the loan proposal.

The Michigan statesman makes a particularly strong point in refuting the contention of opponents of the loan that the funds would be used to promote the Socialist regime in England. Senator Vandenberg has pointed out that the socialization of Great Britain would almost certainly be speeded by refusal of the United States to make the required financial credits available to England.

Prior to Senator Vandenberg's endorsement of the British loan, prospects for congressional approval were not very bright. Undoubtedly, the influence of the Michigan senator will weigh heavily with his colleagues.

Hurja to Run

ONE of the political surprises of the week was the announcement by Emil Hurja of Washington, D. C., who has retained Crystal Falls as his voting address, that he would become a candidate for the Republican nomination for congressman from the 12th district.

In so doing, Hurja, a former Democrat turned Republican, will oppose Former Congressman John Bennett of Ontonagon in the June 18 primary. The winner of the Republican contest likely will be pitted against Rep. Frank Hook of Ironwood, who probably will be the successful candidate for the Democratic nomination, now that he appears to be out of the running for the appointment to the federal bench to succeed the late Judge Raymond.

Hurja bounced into the limelight in the early 30's when he was employed as a political analyst for James A. Farley and predicted landslides for Franklin D. Roosevelt. A few years afterward, Hurja broke with the New Dealers and became publisher of the Pathfinder magazine, which under his leadership espoused the Republican cause. Hurja used Pathfinder as a medium for publicizing his political forecasts, but for some reason or other his predictions flopped as badly as the one-famous Literary Digest's polls.

It will be interesting to see how well Hurja has fared on his own political chances. He hasn't actually resided in Crystal Falls since he left there in 1910 to seek his fortunes in the Pacific Northwest and Alaska. Hurja probably counts on getting some of the heavy Finnish vote in the 12th district, but that is problematical because many of them may be casting their ballots in the Democratic primary. We haven't the reputation that Emil Hurja once had as a political seer, but we don't think he has a chance. It's either Bennett or Hook.

Park Site Endorsed

ESCANABA's service clubs have joined in the movement to establish a state park at Fayette by adopting resolutions urging that the conservation department acquire the harbor site and surrounding property.

For many years, residents of Delta county and vicinity have felt that the scenic ghost town, where the Jackson Iron company operated a furnace in the early years, should be preserved for posterity. But nothing has been done about it because there was no concerted effort to achieve this end. At last, it appears that the Fayette development will come to pass.

Wasted Food

AT this time of acute food shortages, it is disturbing to read that an estimated 25 per cent of fresh fruits and vegetables grown in this country each year is lost through waste and spoilage. That means, in effect, that one of every four acres devoted to those products is never really used, and that two out of every eight hours which the farmer devotes to them are wasted.

Dr. Charles W. Hauck of Ohio State University has concluded that this lost food would supply the normal fruit and vegetable needs of Belgium, Holland, Czechoslovakia, and Greece. He has further concluded that the excuses generally given for this loss—invariably due to the perishable nature of the product or the thoughtlessness of a well-fed nation—are not necessarily valid.

Dr. Hauck calls attention to experiments now being carried on in Columbus, O., by retail stores and several suppliers. Losses have been cut by packaging the food in consumer-size units at the farm and shipping it in improved containers. They have been cut further by consumer packaging and refrigeration in the stores. In the near future, air transport of highly perishable items and a hoped-for speeding up of other transportation will cut the losses even further.

Certainly, these experiments should be continued and their effective results made widely available. And, just as certainly, careless waste in our own kitchens should and can be combated immediately. In a hungry world it is no less than a moral responsibility to use food wisely and carefully.

Quick Trigger Policy

THE Russians cannot hope to build any confidence of their government in America, or even to reduce the natural suspicion that exists in the minds of the average American, if they persist in the quick trigger policy that was demonstrated in Vienna Monday when Russian fighter planes shot at a U. S. Army transport plane landing at the Vienna airport.

This incident was in sharp contrast to the Russian fighter plane attacks on an American plane flying near the Mukden area in Manchuria several weeks ago. In that incident the American plane flew over an area that was known to be protected by Russian aircraft. The American plane, in fact, had no business in that area and invited attack by its unheralded appearance.

The Army transport landing in Vienna, however, was flying an established route to a commercial airport. Vigorous protests should be made to the Russian government to prevent a repetition of this unwarranted conduct from a supposedly friendly nation.

GREAT LAKES FISHERIES CONTROL (Green Bay Press-Gazette)

An attempt has recently been made to impugn the proposed treaty for joint United States and Canadian control of the Great Lakes fisheries by the claim that such regulation would violate the principle of states' rights.

Manifestly the problem of intelligent and effective regulation of the fisheries harvests on the lakes has national and international ramifications. It is obvious that separate state enactments cannot hope to achieve the basic needs of a regulatory policy which are consistency and uniformity.

Moreover, the Wisconsin Conservation commission has been in the fore-front of the fight against national government attempts in the past to interfere with state rights in wildlife regulation, and the Wisconsin commission is now willingly and eagerly supporting the international treaty in the United States senate.

Great Lakes fisheries comprise a vital American resource, and there is evidence aplenty that this resource has not been protected and managed for the public interest in past decades.

A majority of the American states involved have approved treaty regulation in principle. The one exception reported is Ohio, for reasons not wholly clear.

Wisconsin senators ought to take thoughtful note of the arguments advanced by the Wisconsin commission, and join in approving the regulatory treaty when it comes before them soon.

DO YOU HAVE? (Scrapbook Item)

Such expression as, "Do you have any money? Do you have a new car?" are to be vigorously condemned, says my outrageous old assistant, Dr. Etanin Shrdlu. Use of "do" as an auxiliary verb with "have," he thunders, is "illiterate, debased, and a linguistic depravity typical of this unregenerate age," etc.

It is true that the "do you have" construction is frowned upon by the grammarians of the inner sanctum. "Have," they say, "expresses simple possession. It needs no auxiliary verb. One should say, 'have you any money?'"

Still, "do you have" has become an idiom so firmly entrenched in American usage that the Shrdlus had better recognize it, and turn their grammar-ridden minds to more important matters.

"Have" does express possession; but so does "possess," and so does "own." Who would dream of saying, "possess you any real estate? Own you a home?"

No one, to my knowledge, has ever come forward with a sound reason, in either grammar or logic, why we may not say "do you have." As a matter of fact, even Dr. S. himself often uses the con-

Washington—The other day, one of the witnesses at the trial of German war criminals in Nuremberg testified about his part in directing the mass murders at the Oswiecim concentration camp. He took a kind of pride in describing how, under his direction, the efficiency of the place had increased so that the production rate was stepped up from a few hundred murders a day to several thousand.

Men, women, children—they were deceived into the poison-gas chambers. Customarily they were deceived into believing they were going into a delousing center. But sometimes they suspected the mass doom that lay ahead, and then, as the witness calmly recited the facts, there were riots, screams for mercy—and force was necessary to compel the victims into the death trap.

Today only about 1,500,000 Jews are left in Europe. Their fate is uncertain. They are imprisoned in a world in which all the doors of escape seem sealed shut by mistrust and fear.

—NOT FOR JEWS ALONE—

A campaign is in progress here in America to raise $100,000,000 to help these defenseless people. That campaign is being carried on by Jewish organizations, and the appeal is to Jews to help the European members of their faith who are threatened with extermination.

But it seems to me that this appeal is not for Jews alone. It is also for those of us who are not Jews; for those of us who call ourselves Christians.

The conscience of mankind has been bludgeoned by the horrors of the past decade. That was part of Hitler's diabolical conspiracy—the great lie, the great crime, that would leave us bewildered and uncertain. Our conscience has been blunted and dulled by terror piled on terror.

It is too easy merely to point the finger of shame at the German people. That is the way of the pharisee. It is the smug escape of those who would look the other way. The crime of Oswiecim is a crime on the conscience of the world.

Many of us, it seems to me, are confused by the complexities of what it is convenient to call the "Jewish Problem." The issue of Palestine as a homeland is overlaid with so much political dissension. There is a division among Jews themselves over the wisdom of such a solution.

—LIKE HITLER'S POGROM—

But certain things are unmistakably clear. The brutal truth is that in spite of all they have gone through, the plight of the surviving Jews in Europe is today almost as perilous as it was when Hitler's pogrom was at its height.

The news has a strangely familiar sound. Just before the outbreak of the war, a shipload of Jews who had escaped from Germany went from port to port in this hemisphere. Everywhere they were turned back until, in despair, many individuals sought escape in suicide. There is another such ship today. It is the Fede. Its decks are packed with Jews who are hoping to reach Palestine. The Fede is being detained at an Italian port because the quota for Palestine is already filled.

The Fede may be forced to wander from port to port as did that other ship. The same quotas, the same restrictions, are in force. The same mistrust prevails. The same cant and hypocrisy are used to conceal the truth.

Certainly it would seem that, in the present crisis, Palestine is the only outlet. The Arabs will not be appeased by quotas and the letter of the law. They will, if anything, be emboldened by timidity.

These, of course, are political complications that reach a long way into the past and a long way into the future. There are honest and sincere men who believe the risks in this course are so great, both for the Jews and for peace-loving people everywhere, that it is mistaken.

But there are no complications in the appeal to help the survivors of an ill-but-vanished people. The money will go to a variety of uses. It will go to help maintain the Jews who have already got out of Europe. It will go to provide a little more security for those who are still in camps in Germany and Austria. Heaven knows it's little enough to do.

This is the season of rejoicing in the Christian churches. The one whose return to life is celebrated, the one whose ascent to heaven is the center and being of christianity, was one of that race of people who now homelessly wander the earth.

struction in such instances as, "Do you have to go so soon? Did you have a good time? I do not have to do it. I did not have any time to waste."

Of course, "do you have" is a little redundant, but that is of small moment, for English idioms often ignore both grammar and logic, and, in most cases, they cannot be translated literally into other languages.

"Do you have Blank's coffee?" is as natural and as correct grammatically as "Do you carry Blank's coffee? Do you handle Blank's coffee?"

Merriam Webster's (page 762) disapproves of "do" with "dare" and "need," but I cannot think why. Not even a dictionary maker would use such stilted speech as: "Dared you to do it? Need you a doctor? No, I need not a doctor."

The personal pronouns often stump the experts. Do you know when "you and me" is correct? Give it to us girls—we girls? My PRONOUNS PAMPHLET gives you a simple key. For a free copy, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Frank Colby, in care of this paper.

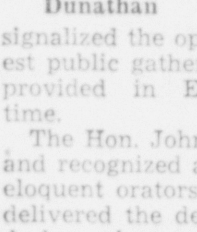

Good Morning!

EARLY ESCANABA — No single facility provided for those hardy early citizens of Escanaba produced greater enjoyment for the community than the Amusement Enterprise Association's building, now known as the Coliseum, when it was thrown open to the public on New Year's night, Jan. 1, 1935.

A monster dancing party, which attracted at least a thousand merry-makers and included guests from Green Bay, Ishpeming, Negaunee and Fayette, signaled the opening of the largest public gathering place to be provided in Escanaba to that time.

The Hon. John Power, attorney, and recognized as one of the most eloquent orators in the Peninsula, delivered the dedication address. A dancing program followed which was continued until 5 o'clock the following morning.

SQUARE DANCES —

In that early day, of course, the dancing program was made up entirely of square dances, and the only complaint of the dancers was that in the large hall it was difficult to hear the caller. Sometimes the voice of the caller with his sing-song, "Do so do and around you go," could scarce be heard above the sound of hundreds of pairs of feet on the hardwood floor, and the echoing reverberations dimmed his shouted "alamon lefts" and "forward and backs."

In addition, the floor had been laid for the benefit of roller skaters and the slippery surface made the difficult steps hard to execute properly. The Iron Port recorded, however, that everyone thoroughly enjoyed the party, marking the opening of the largest public gathering place to be boasted by any city north of Green Bay.

OVER 60 YEARS—The hall is now more than 60 years old, is still popular as a roller rink, and occasionally is the scene of community events which require such a large floor space. The completion and dedication of the Amusement building, as it was then called, was reported by the Iron Port as follows:

"One thousand persons at least, we heard larger estimates, were present at the Amusement building on New Year's night and the party went off without a hitch. Officers of the association have asked us to return their thanks to Hon. John Power for the very eloquent opening address, as the opening feature of the program.

"It was a little difficult to hear the calls at times, as must be expected in so large a room, and a floor prepared for roller skating is not the best for dancing, but these drawbacks were understood before-hand and detracted but little from the enjoyment. Dancing continued until 5 o'clock on the morning of January second. Among the guests were visitors from a distance—from Green Bay, Ishpeming, Negaunee and Fayette."

ROLLING AROUND — While the large hall at First avenue south and Fourth street was used for other purposes, it was constructed originally for roller skating. Escanaba really "took to the rollers" back in 1885-86. Staid business men and sedate dames of Sault Ste. Marie—Mayor George J. Laundry urged State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner today to "do something to relieve the situation" at the Straits of Mackinac, where, he said, no state ferries have operated for several days. "I am informed," said Mayor Laundry, "that the spring schedule went into effect April 15 as usual, and that one of the boats operated for a short time. Since then, due to ice conditions, the ferry ceased to operate and has not been running for the past five or six days.

An increase of nearly 1,000 in the number of unemployed persons registered in the 15 counties of the upper peninsula is reported by the national re-employment service district office here. A total of 40,409 persons were listed up to the end of the fiscal period, April 18, compared to 39,434 for the previous month.

FUN FOR ALL—

Of roller skating the Iron Port records: "There were present at the rink on Wednesday evening last, a usual number of spectators, besides some of the 'old boys' of the city, among whom we noticed John Corcoran, the grocer, James Corcoran, engineer at the shops, Ed Donovan, the flour and feed man, and Mike O'Brien, conductor. They were all there for fun and they had it—and so did the spectators.

"None of them had been on rollers before. O'Brien, the conductor, said they were all right until the hind trucks got loose and run into the forward ones. But Donovan's feet stuck to the floor like a farmer to a load of hay, when it is being weighed. Corcoran, the grocer, and his namesake, the engineer, seemed to stand and fall together—that is, when one fell, the other would follow suit out of sympathy, we suppose.

"We are not quite clear on the 'follow suit' business, but that was the remark made by Main, the liverrman, made every time the two gentlemen above named, laid down and allowed the chalk from the floor to crawl up their backs. Wikson, the photographer,

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—There was an important secret conference between Secretary of State James Byrnes and four senate leaders just before the State Department finally announced its change to a friendlier Argentine policy.

Pearson

The four senators were: Tom Connally of Texas, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee; Walter George of Georgia; Wallace White, Senate Republican leader; and Warren Austin of Vermont, also Republican.

In order to avoid the press, the meeting took place at Blair house, the mansion across from the State Department reserved for entertaining visiting potentates. Secretary Byrnes arrived especially armed for the fray. Thinking that the senators wanted to query him about Russia, he brought a portfolio filled with Russian data.

When he started to talk on Russia, However, Senator Connally stopped him. "Just a minute," said the gentleman from Texas. "We want to talk to you about Argentina."

Whereupon the senators expressed the vigorous opinion that a constitutionally elected government in Argentina deserved U. S. recognition, and further intimated that if the State Department didn't resume full diplomatic relations there might be some vigorous statements on the senate floor.

Among other things, the senators paid tribute to chief Argentine critic, assistant secretary of state Spruille Braden—only the tribute was not of a kind he would appreciate. They kicked him verbally all over the lot.

Secretary Byrnes listened carefully and finally agreed that there might be some change in Argentine policy in order to further hemisphere unity. Next day he announced the change.

Note—Byrnes has been so busy concentrating on ticklish Russian problems that he has had little time to concentrate on Latin America. As a result, the good neighbor policy has been allowed to drift dangerously. At the time we were celebrating Pan-American day, our friendship probably was at its lowest ebb since U. S. marines landed in Nicaragua in 1927.

—DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS BATTLE—

The famous caucus of house Democrats called to protest Bob Hannegan's leadership of the Democratic National committee received its first hot-foot when Representative Estes Kefauver, Tennessee liberal, offered a compromise resolution proposing that harmony matters be referred to the Democratic congressional campaign committee.

This was a slap at die-hard dixerites who had been thirsting for Bob Hannegan's blood and they immediately responded. Representatives Boren (Okla.), McKenzie (La.) and Slaughter (Mo.) all fired salvoes taking Hannegan to task on various counts.

Finally the Kefauver resolution was voted down. This resulted in a stalemate; for Louisiana's McKenzie, who planned to offer a resolution sharply censuring Hannegan, was persuaded not to. Speaker Sam Rayburn then took the floor to caution his colleagues on the need of a solid-front organization in the coming campaign.

Warning that Republicans might gain control of the House in the November elections, Rayburn declared:

"None of us will rest easy if that happens. I know from experience, because I served 12 years in this body while the Republicans had a majority. To retain our control, we must reelect Democrats and we must submerge our differences."

Then the speaker tossed this minor bombshell:

"We must remember that any Democrat is to be preferred to a Republican—even a 10 per cent Democrat."

The dictum drew a wild burst of applause. But Representative Frank Hook, two-fisted Michigan liberal, refused to join in it.

"There are too many 10 per cent Democrats," objected Hook. "Let's have some real ones."

—STETTINIUS' GHOST—

Ed Stettinius, U. S. delegate to the United Nations, recently asked permission of Secretary Byrnes to write a book on the organization of the United Nations. Byrnes gladly assented.

A few days later, however, the State Department received word from Stettinius that it was to put a ghost writer on the government pay-roll to help write the book. State Department officials immediately objected. Their budget already has been cut severely and they didn't want it drained further by ghost-writers.

But Stettinius was president. He said he had taken the entire matter up with Byrnes and was sure it had his blessing. State Department officials finally went to Byrnes, who said that Ed could write a book all right, but not with the help of anyone on the government pay-roll.

SPRING CLEAN UP UNDER WAY

Annual Trash Removal
Job In City Takes
About A Month

The city's annual spring clean-up is well under way and by noon today public works department crews will have completed the first major removal of all ashes and rubbish from the two main Ludington street alleys and the east and west alleys from Sixth avenue south to the edge of the city.

Residents are asked not to wait until they see the city's clean-up trucks in their alley before hauling from their basements the winter's accumulation of rubbish.

There is still frost in some of the ash piles and crews which follow-up the first coverage in the main alleys, made with a power shovel, will pick up the remaining rubbish and ashes. The power shovel is used wherever possible to speed up the spring clean-up, usually a month's job.

Boud Peterson Enjoys Skiing At Japanese Resort

With the Eighth Army in Japan (Delayed)—T/4 Boyd Peterson, 20 year old paratrooper with the 11th Airborne Division, in Japan, has recently spent a week at rest camp in the Japanese Alps. Relieved of all duty with his outfit for that period, Sgt. Peterson spent a very enjoyable time at the rest area, a famous ski resort called Shiga Heights. Situated five thousand feet above sea level, high up in the mountains, it is the ideal place for skiing and has a three mile ski run. This ski resort is called the finest in Japan and can even be compared to the famous Switzerland Alps.

Sgt. Peterson has been overseas since January 21, 1945 and has been a paratrooper since May 15, 1945 when he qualified with five jumps at the 11th Airborne jump school in Luzon. He has earned the Asiatic-Pacific Ribbon with two battle stars, the Philippine Liberation Ribbon with one battle star, the Good Conduct Ribbon, the Victory Medal and the Presidential Unit Citation won by his unit the 675th Parachute Field Artillery Battalion for action on Luzon.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Peterson reside on 317 South Seventh Street, Escanaba, Mich.

Fire Chief Urges All To Take Part In Clean-Up Here

Since 1928 the number of residential fires in the United States has increased 40 percent, Fire Chief Arvid Johnson said yesterday in urging all-out support of the current spring clean-up drive. According to the National Fire Protection Association, 400,000 fires attack homes annually and 7,000 persons are burned to death.

These figures were stressed by the chief in pointing out that most dwelling fires can be traced to familiar hazards, most of which can be eliminated while the home is being given its annual spring cleaning.

The major fire-breeds are: rubbish and household debris allowed to accumulate during the winter; defective chimneys; sparks falling on flammable wood roofs which should be covered with fire-resistant asphalt shingles or some similar protective material; defective heating equipment; careless smoking habits; use of flammable liquids in home cleaning; and defective electrical wiring and appliances.

The first insurance company in the United States was organized in Philadelphia in 1759 for the aid of clergymen and their widows.

Observe Garbage Collection Rules, Residents Asked

Escanaba residents can have an improved garbage collection service this summer if individuals will cooperate with public works department crews by following a few simple rules.

Probably the most important of these is the use of containers of the proper size because crews will not handle garbage cans which contain more than 30 gallons, Joe Holmes, department superintendent, said.

Several workers have been injured in the past while emptying larger containers and the regular weekly garbage collection rounds cannot be completed in reasonable time if the refuse is dumped from tins and then shovelled into the trucks.

Residents are asked to provide their homes with a 30 gallon container if they do not already have one. Used oil containers can be converted into excellent garbage cans.

Other rules residents are asked to observe regarding garbage removal follow:

Cans must be placed within ten feet of the alley line but containers at homes which have no alley frontage will be serviced; if the yard is fenced, place the can near the gate or build a platform so cans are accessible from the alley.

Cans must have handles, unattached covers and must be of reasonable weight (not to exceed 30 gallons). All garbage should be wrapped. Garbage cans should be rinsed out once each week. Cans will last longer if placed on a platform.

A collection of grass cuttings and rubbish which can be placed in separate containers will be made once each month if possible. Waste construction materials, tree trimmings and other heavy rubbish must be hauled by private agencies or the resident himself. This type of rubbish will not be collected by the city.

Scouters' Training Course To Begin At Gladstone Tonight

The first in a series of Scouters' training courses will be held at the Gladstone high school tonight under the direction of John Norton Jr., leadership training chairman of the Red Buck district.

The session will begin promptly at 7 o'clock. Scouters from Rock, Gladstone, Rapid River, Escanaba and possibly a number from Bark River, Carney and Hermansville are expected to attend.

Tonight's session will include an explanation of the course and its objectives; the fundamentals of Scouting in film form; patrol organization, troop leadership, troop committee operations and the basis of troop committee work within the troop. Discussions by the group will follow.

The first session will be directed by John Norton Jr., and S. N. Bradford.

The course will cover a period of four weekly instruction sessions with the fifth period consisting of a demonstration hike and campfire. The time and dates of each session will be set by the participants.

A large attendance of Scoutmasters and troop committeemen is expected for the course, which will be the only one held in this area this spring.

April Meeting Of Red Buck District Set For Thursday

The April meeting of the Red Buck district, Boy Scouts of America, which comprises Delta, Schoolcraft and parts of Menominee county, will be held Thursday evening, April 25, at 6:30 o'clock at the Hotel Perket in Bark River. The meeting will be one of the most important of the year, Chairman Fred Hahne of Manistique reported, with discussions of improvements for Camp Red Buck heading the list of business matters to be considered.

All members of the district committees are urged to attend. A special invitation has been extended by Scout officials to the camping committee, which is under the direction of Fred Johnson, Escanaba, chairman.

Heroism Of Local Soldier Told In Magazine Article

The act of heroism which won the Distinguished Service Cross, posthumously, for Robert W. Holmlund of Escanaba, Mich., was one of the highlights of the 5th Infantry Division's unsuccessful attack on Fort Driant at Metz, according to an article in the current issue of The Saturday Evening Post.

His widow, Mrs. Mary F. Holmlund, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gherna of Escanaba, lives with her sister, Marjorie, in Iron Mountain.

In "The Red Devils Got What They Wanted," Major Mike Rinehart describes the 16-day attack which cost 798 officers and men killed, wounded or missing in action.

"It was at Driant that Pfc. Robert W. Holmlund earned a D.S.C.—awarded posthumously," he relates. "Holmlund went in with the initial assault wave, and at the first pillbox inside the main fort, kicked off the tide topping while exposed to sniper fire and dropped an explosive charge inside."

A REPORT ON

PROGRESS IN ESCANABA

There are still a number of people waiting for telephones in this area. Before we can serve everybody, we'll need more outside wire and cable to connect new customers' premises with the central office. These facilities have been ordered and are now being manufactured.

Even after we receive the new wire and cable, there will be the painstaking job of interconnecting it with the present telephone plant... a job that must be done carefully without interrupting existing service.

Meanwhile, we are continuing to stretch our present equipment far beyond its normal capacity, making it handle more subscribers than it was engineered to accommodate. At the risk of temporarily lowering the quality of service, every terminal, every line, every telephone we can possibly use is being put to work, to bring some type of service to as many new customers as possible. And we'll continue this policy until our new facilities are available to solve the problem.

If you are waiting for a telephone, you can be sure your order will be filled in its proper turn just as soon as possible.

THE FINEST OIL MONEY CAN BUY

New Varcon Motor Oil is the "detergent" type which provides a washing action in removing varnish, ring-sticking and sludge-forming materials.

Once again necessity was the mother of invention. During the war it became necessary to develop an oil that would

1. Give service in Arctic cold or jungle heat.
2. Keep engines clean.
3. Prevent piston sticking.
4. Protect against rapid engine wear.
5. Stop corrosion of bearings.

New Varcon Motor oil is that kind of oil. It really is different. It is outstanding. It is marvelous. A-N-D, mile for mile it doesn't cost a penny more than the old type of oils.

Skaug Brothers Begin Excavating For 5 Homes Here

Ben and Andrew Skaug, partners in the Skaug Brothers real estate firm, have purchased a half block parcel of land at 14th street and Ninth avenue south from Coleman Nee and will build five homes on the site, it was learned yesterday.

A bulldozer has been working the past several days leveling off the site and will start excavating for the basements today.

Skaug Brothers reported yesterday that they have already secured the lumber required for the homes, which will be cottage type, and that Alfred Brandt will be the contractor for the construction. Applications for priorities have already been made. It is expected that three to four months will be required to complete the homes. Three of the homes will be offered for sale and commitments have already been made for the other two.

QUERIES FROM VETS

Q. How do I go about filing a claim?

A. Veterans being discharged from the military service on Certificates of Disability will be fully informed by the military authorities with reference to such matters and will file a claim at that time when necessary. When a claim is to be filed by a veteran subsequent to his discharge from the military service, it may be instituted simply by an informal communication directed to the nearest office of the Veterans Administration informing that office of the veteran's desire to claim monetary benefits. The necessary forms will then be furnished him with instructions as to the method of executing them. Or he may call in person at the nearest office of the Veterans Administration and assistance will be furnished him in executing his application.

Q. Will I have to go to the hospital for an examination? How long will it take?

A. Whether hospitalization is required and the length thereof depends entirely upon the nature of the veteran's disability. Ordinarily, hospitalization is not necessary to determine the degree of the veteran's disability.

Candidates For County Offices File Petitions

Nominating petitions yesterday were filed by 14 Democrats and six Republicans who seek nomination as candidates to county offices in the primary election to be held June 18. There was no opposition on the Republican ticket, but three offices are at contest on the Democratic ticket.

County Clerk J. Theodore Ohlen, Democrat, yesterday said that it was necessary for him to reject the nominating petitions of Albert J. Olson, Republican candidate for the office of county clerk. The heading of the petitions circulated for Olson listed only the office of county clerk. In Delta county the offices of county clerk and register of deeds are combined and the petition heading must designate both offices, the county clerk explained.

Escanaba Soldier Reveals Reaction To Life In Japan

Pfc. Bill Moras, who is stationed with the U. S. Army Air Force in Japan, revealed some of his reactions to Japanese life and customs in an interesting letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Moras, 513 South 11th street.

Excerpts from his letter follow: "I'm stationed at Tachikawa which is about 15 miles from Tokyo. I've been there twice but there isn't much to see as it's been badly bombed. I work eight hours a day as clerks are very much needed."

"I'm picking up a little of the Japanese language just by talking to the natives around here. I know how to say hello, goodbye, good day, good night, good morning, excuse me and several other such sayings. The people are very polite and patient with you and they will stand for hours while you rattle on about something they don't know the first thing about. I have a little book that was given to me on the boat and with it I can get on fairly well."

"I just couldn't tell you how poor the people are over here and you probably wouldn't believe me anyway. When we were getting off the boat they sent some Japs aboard to clean it for the next bunch of G.I.'s who were going to use it. Those Japs were digging in the garbage cans and taking out bread that was green with mold from having been on the boat so long. Anything they could carry they were taking. I gave one of them an orange and he stood there bowing and saluting me as if I had been a God or something. Every day when we come out of the mess hall there is a line of Nips standing there to scrape our plates and put it in little cans to take home for their children. I always save a little bit so that I have something to give them when I come out. The food doesn't taste so good to me when I see all of those people starving. In Tokyo they are hauling them in a hundred a day with cholera, and then that's all that they can catch. I'll bet the Japs won't be starting any more wars for a good many years."

"They are having their elections this week and they are all for it. The only thing is that they like the way the United States is running their country so well that they don't want their own people in office. It seems that MacArthur has been doing a pretty good job over here."

"I had my clothes washed today by a Jap on the post and it cost me one candy bar. It was a big washing, too. Last night I was on the street in town and a Jap kid came up to me and gave me 30 yen (two dollars) for a candy bar. Where they get their money I don't know."

"The cherry blossoms are in bloom now and I wish that you could see them. They are really beautiful. Sunday I guess I'll go over to Tokyo and see the Emperor's palace."

County Clerk Ohlen said he directed the attention of Harlan Yelland, who brought Olson's petitions in for filing, to the error. He said that Yelland asked the return of the petitions and left the office, to return later with the heading changed to read county clerk and register of deeds. The clerk said that he is asking the county election commission, composed of the county clerk, county treasurer, sheriff and prosecuting attorney, to decide today on the validity of Olson's petitions.

The county Republican party will have no candidate for treasurer, circuit court commissioner, or coroner on the ballot for the primary election. The incumbent county treasurer, a Democrat, is unopposed on his own ticket and his reelection therefore is virtually assured, except for possible opposition by a slip candidate.

There are three contests for nomination on the Democratic ticket: Two candidates for sheriff; three for representative in the state legislature; and three for coroner.

The Republican and Democratic party tickets for the primary, with the possible disqualification of petitions for Albert J. Olson for clerk on the Republican ticket, are as follows:

Republican Ticket
Sheriff—Grandville C. Roeder, 508 South 12th street, Escanaba.
Prosecuting attorney—Alger W. Strom, 601 North Ninth street, Gladstone.
Clerk—Albert J. Olson, 308 South 18th street, Escanaba.
Representative—Roy A. Jensen, Lake Shore Drive, Escanaba.
Surveyor—William J. Karas, 1010 Seventh avenue south.
Drain commissioner—Paul Ramseth, Rock.

Democratic Ticket
Sheriff—William E. Miron, incumbent, Maurice J. Pratt, 1224 North 21st street, Escanaba.
Prosecuting attorney—J. Clyde McGonagle, incumbent.
Clerk—J. Theodore Ohlen, incumbent.
Treasurer—R. C. Pryal, incumbent.

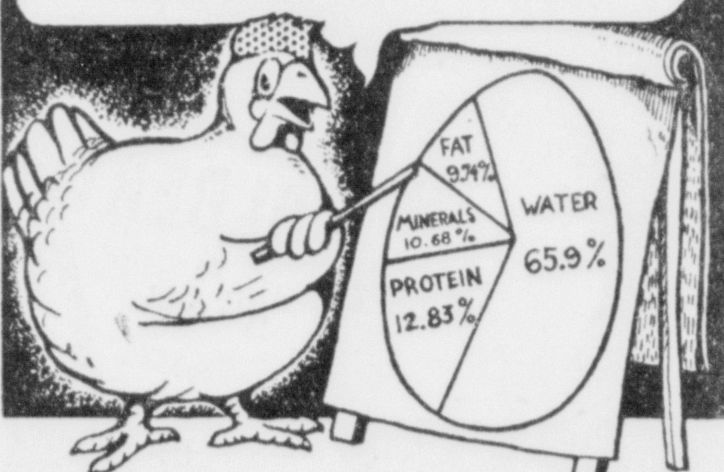

Representative—Mrs. Violet Peterson, Perkins; Myron W. Legg, Escanaba; Arnold T. Rossow, Brampton.
Circuit court commissioner—Wheaton L. Strom and John G. Erickson, Escanaba.
Drain commissioner—Leo Lavolette, Incumbent.
Coroner—Dr. Thomas A. McInerney, Escanaba; Dr. Otto S. Hult, Gladstone; J. Kevill Murphy, Escanaba.

graduated into scouting. The cubs are looking forward to the forthcoming Cub Jam-bor-ree, which is planned during the coming months. Additional enrollment during the past year has been on the gain, filling the places left by cubs graduating or leaving the pack. Pack 411 is one of the older packs of Escanaba, carrying out a varied program of cubbing for boys of the ages of 9 to 12.

Sgt. Carter Bedard
Presumed Dead; Hold
Memorial Services

Memorial services for Sgt. Carter P. Bedard, Army Air Corps, missing since October 22, 1944, were conducted at a requiem mass yesterday morning at All Saints' Catholic church.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred E. Bedard, 612 Wisconsin avenue, were recently advised by the War Department that the government was presuming their son to be dead.

Details of the action in which Sgt. Bedard was lost are contained in a letter from Major General Edward F. Witsell of the Adjutant General's office to the parents. The letter in part follows:

"Since your son Sgt. Carter P. Bedard, Air Corps, was reported missing in action 22 October, 1944, the War Department has entertained the hope that he survived and that information should be revealed dispelling the uncertainty surrounding his absence. However, as in many cases, the conditions of warfare deny us such information, x x x x."

"All available records and reports concerning the absence of your son have been carefully investigated x x x x. Information in the hands of the War Department indicates that your son was a crew member of a B-24 (Liberator) aircraft which participated in a bombardment mission from Pandaveswar, India, to Moulmein, Burma, on 22 October, 1944. Five minutes after leaving the target, the formation of bombers taking part in this mission was attacked by hostile aircraft. During the engagement which followed, your son's plane collided with another plane and was seriously damaged. It fell into the water ten miles west of Moulmein and exploded.

No trace of your son has been seen since that time.

"Since no information has been received which would support a presumption of his continued survival, the War Department must now terminate your son's absence with a presumptive finding of death.

"I regret the necessity for this message but trust that the ending of a long period of uncertainty may give at least some small measure of consolation. An appraisal of the sacrifice made by your son in the service of his country compels in us feelings of humility and respect. May Providence grant a measure of relief from the anguish and anxiety you have experienced during these many months."

was set for Monday, May 13, at which time, if approved and adopted, the budget ordinance calling for the levying of needed funds will be introduced.

Total expenditures for the year are estimated at $17,640.00 more than a year ago. While expenditures in all but three funds are expected to run higher, the principal increase is in the street fund which is $14,410.00 higher than last year due principally to $10,000.00 earmarked for the beginning of a storm sewer program.

The tax levy of $30,045.00 is $2,645.00 higher than that of last year but due to the increase in total valuation the tax rate is being lowered to 10.22 mills in comparison with 14.3 mills last year. This, in other words will be $10.22 per thousand of assessed valuation.

A comparison with last year's budget and the levy follows:

Monday evening he advised officers that he had found the billfold with money intact along the shoulder of the highway north of Garden. A diligent search afoot along the highway between Garden and Garden Junction had turned the trick.

CLOTHES DRIVELocal Schools Observe
"Bundle Day" This Week

Students in Manistique schools are cooperating in the observance of "Bundle Day," a nation-wide movement having for its purpose the collection of serviceable worn clothing for use by school children in Europe and in the poor rural areas of this country.

Thursday and Friday of this week have been designated as Bundle Days in Manistique and A. P. Hall, superintendent of Manistique schools, is asking the parents of local school children to aid them in making the drive effective. The parents are asked to assist particularly in the selection of the clothing which may be donated and in the making up of the parcels.

Suggested as suitable for turning in to this collection are outgrown children's clothing and shoes that can be scuffed but still serviceable. Adult clothing which may be altered to suit the needs of teen-age school children, is also acceptable.

Homes that are without children may also aid in the drive by turning over clothing to neighbors' youngsters.

The drive is being sponsored by the "Save the Children Federation," a nation-wide organization which is waging a very active campaign to clothe destitute children in war torn areas of Europe.

Interests In
Rumor

A change in the official setup of the Hiawatha Metal Products Company is in the making, according to semi-official information discussed freely about Manistique street corners, but sidetracked from definite news channels.

Fred H. Hahne, known to be interested in the company, when asked concerning the rumors stated that papers had not as yet been signed and it was therefore too soon to make any definite statement.

According to "street talk," by sources generally regarded as reliable, J. F. Kluit, president of the firm, is relinquishing his interests. Who his successor will be is as yet pure guesswork. Dr. Stephen Elko, of Highland Park, one of the principle owners of the company, was in Manistique Monday.

The Hiawatha Metal Products Company took over the old State Highway garage building about eight months ago and have remodeled it into a well appointed factory. For the past several months it has been given over to the manufacture of roller skates.

Attendance Records
Broken At First Baptist Church

The membership of the First Baptist church is enthusiastic over the results of the "Fill the Church" campaign the church has been conducting. Church attendance records have been broken and the campaign has been a success from the very beginning, the Rev. J. D. B. Adams, pastor, reports.

Particularly impressive, says Rev. Adams, was the attendance at the church last Sunday. The church auditorium was crowded and for the first time in years the side room had to be opened to take care of the crowds. At the Sunday evening services twenty-six people were baptized. The attendance at Sunday school has also been large.

The campaign was sponsored by the Baptist Youth Fellowship under the leadership of Mrs. Norman Brown and Mrs. Lawrence Strasser.

"Cloverland Lodge" is the new name applied to that building which has long been known as the "Infirmary."

The building is no longer an infirmary or what people of other days used to call bluntly a "poor house," but is now a privately conducted home for people who receive old age subsistence and pay their way at the home. Mrs. Clara Whitman, who operates the place, changed the name in deference to these old people who do not like to be identified as inmates of a public institution.

Mrs. Whitman is assisted in her work by her daughter, Pearl, and her son, Lawrence. Ten aged people are making their home at the lodge at present.

Trees Planted In Large Area Near
Thunder Lake

A crew of about fifty men has been put into service planting trees in the Thunder Lake area under the direction of the local forest station.

About 300,000 Norway pine seedlings are being planted and the work, which got under way late last week, is being rushed while good planting conditions prevail. The trees came from the U. S. Forest nursery at Watersmeet.

The work is being conducted under the supervision of Walter Winslow, local forest ranger, and his assistant, J. Hansen. Workers assemble each morning at Cooks and are taken by truck to the place of operation.

This is the first large scale planting of trees made in this area since before the war.

Ask Government Help In Fighting Lamprey Menace

Alarmed by the inroads made by lamprey on the fishing industry in these parts, local fishermen are joining with commercial fishermen operating on Lake Michigan in asking the federal government to take drastic action in abating the menace.

At Monday night's meeting of the Manistique city council, Councilman John Sellman, himself a commercial fisherman, presented a resolution urging that proper agencies of the federal and state governments take immediate action if the commercial fishing industry is to be saved. The resolution was passed unanimously.

Lamprey, Mr. Sellman explained, are eel-like marine creatures that fasten themselves to fish and suck their blood. Lake trout seem to suffer most from the lamprey, although they fasten themselves upon most any kind of fish and evidences of their destructiveness have been found in Indian Lake where pike were the victims.

Their habitat has, heretofore been the ocean, but they have fastened themselves upon the bottoms of ships and have been carried inland. They spawn in shallow waters of streams and great numbers of them may be seen in the river here, particularly in the vicinity of the paper mill dam. Sea gulls feast upon these creatures and pick them from the water in the wake of the ferry when the churning water brings them up to the surface. But there aren't enough sea gulls to seriously affect the number of these parasites.

Sellman states that the number of lake trout has seriously declined in this area due to the presence of lamprey and Lake Huron and Lake Erie commercial fishing has fared even worse.

He states that messages are being sent to congressmen and United States senators from many points in this area asking for drastic action.

Following is the resolution passed at Monday evening's meeting: "Whereas, the commercial fishing industry is vitally important to many cities and villages located along Lake Michigan shores and serves as a means of livelihood for thousands of families and

"Whereas, the fish production has gradually fallen off during the past few years due chiefly to the destructiveness of the steadily increasing population of lamprey eel which have long been a menace to lake trout and

"Whereas, the fishing has become so poor out of Manistique harbor that local fishermen are barely able to continue operations and four fishing craft have already left for Lake Superior ports and

"Whereas, the commercial fishing on all of the Great Lakes, with the possible exception of Lake Superior, has suffered greatly as a result of the increase of the lamprey eel,

"Now Therefore Be It Resolved: That the City Council of the City of Manistique realizing the danger confronting the commercial fishing industry hereby joins with the

COUNCIL HAS
BUSY SESSIONMany Important Matters
Discussed And Acted Upon Morday

Matters pertaining to sewer extension, granting of a permit to a carnival to show in the city, decorations for next summer's American Legion convention, granting of building permits, renewal of cafe licenses and passage of a resolution with reference to the lamprey menace, provided a busy session for the city council at its regular meeting Monday evening.

Martin Selling and George Danko, appearing on behalf of property owners on Elm and New Elm streets, asked that sewers be extended to serve residence owners on those streets. They had previously been told that due to the slope of the streets, connection with the main sewer would be impossible without the installation of a lift station at a higher level. Under such circumstances, the costs to the property owners would be higher than they would be willing to pay. The council voted to stand the cost of a lift station if the property owners would be willing to stand for the rest of the expense. A meeting of the property owners will be held in the near future and the proposal discussed.

Hugh Kennedy, representing the Manistique Volunteer Fire Department, appeared before the meeting and asked that a permit be granted a carnival company to show here this summer. The carnival company, coming here under the auspices of the fire department, agreed, he said, to reimburse the department $300 for serving as sponsor. Charles Manson, city manager, opposed the granting of the permit, stating that he as a public official, disapproved of such things. The council, however, thought otherwise and voted unanimously to accede to the firemen's wishes. The carnival will appear here in June.

Walter Nelson, appearing on behalf of the local post of the American Legion, asked that the city give financial aid to the convention. The matter was deferred until a later meeting.

Permits to build new fronts for the Ekberg Shoe Shop on Oak street, and a building belonging to Fred Christenson on Deer street, were granted.

Applications for renewal of licenses of 15 local cafes and taverns were granted.

The council authorized the purchase of street decorations for the coming American Legion convention.

A nation-wide 50-city price tabulation shows the service station price of gasoline to average 20.21 cents a gallon, including an average tax of 6.05 cents.

CH PASQUELS ARE HEADACHE

Mexican National League Ends Cash Competition Too Strong

Paso, Texas, April 23. (P)—Baseball ambitions of the Mexican National League are a headache to big league clubs in the United States, but they're making inroads on a 1 league in Mexico—the Mexican National.

Let six-club loop, only league Mexico which is a member of Mexican baseball, is holding an agency meeting tomorrow at Toluca to consider dropping to 10 clubs. Already its president secretary have resigned.

Some competition with the Mexican league, operated with a cash by Jorge Pasquel and others, has been too strong for the Mexican National League. The Mexican National League has been losing money so it might in the future operations and Mexico has turned into mostly a traveling club.

Ch Pasquels have been pouring money into the Mexican league to attract players from the American leagues with considerable success. Some of the top men obtaining such manner are playing in the Torreon and Mexico City of the Mexican league.

President Fernando Maldonado Secretary Hector Raynal of Mexican National league have resigned.

Raynal, who said he would not consider his resignation, suggested that Mexico City and Torreon drop out of the Mexican National, thus permitting the pick of players to be signed up by remaining teams. "That would be the league four strong clubs," Raynal.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The Upper Peninsula Golf tournament definitely will be held in Escanaba this summer and arrangements for the event, which was a casualty of war for the past several years, will be made within the next few days. Several clubs from other cities have inquired about Escanaba's plans for the event in the hope that they could snare the classic for their cities in the event that Escanaba did not care to promote the tournament. Actually, the Escanaba golf leaders have been planning for the event for some time and expect the 1946 tournament to be the most successful in Upper Peninsula history.

The tournament has grown to the point where it is virtually impossible to stage it on one course. Both the Escanaba golf club and Highland golf club facilities will be used to handle the 1946 event. Definite tournament dates will be decided upon shortly but the best guess is that the golf classic will be held the second week in August. It is probable that every club in the Peninsula will be represented by candidates for the first postwar championship. There will be a lot of new golfers banging away at the little pellet this season. Virtually all clubs report swollen membership.

A decision will be made in the next day or two concerning the proposed boxing matches here in May. If negotiations for the main event can be successfully completed, the card probably will be held on May 27. Leonard Sharkey, the hard-hitting Indian Golden Gloves champ, may be matched with Jimmy Hubbard of the Soo in the windup. Sharkey has already agreed to the match and contact will be made with Hubbard this week. The Soo welterweight agreed to meet Sharkey on the Manistique boxing card but Sharkey was not in top shape at that time and wisely ducked the match.

Next fall the Escanaba boxers will have a slick training center if present plans materialize. A room has been allocated for them in the fairgrounds exhibition building and it will be well equipped with boxing paraphernalia. If the fight card is held here May 27 as tentatively planned, proceeds will be used for that purpose and to equip the boys with full gear. This facility cannot be used as a training quarter for the present, however, because of the lack of showers and heat.

BENTON WOBBLY IN FIRST INNING

Shortstop Error Helps Chicago Gather Two Unearned Runs

Chicago, April 23 (P)—Bill Dietrich, bespectacled White Sox veteran, today gave the Detroit Tigers five safe hits and fashioned a 3-1 victory for Chicago over the world champions and Tiger Pitcher Al Benton.

Only once was Dietrich in trouble in the tight game before 6,166 fans in Comiskey Park. That was in the fourth inning when Hank Greenberg doubled to left with two out and Dick Wakefield followed with a double to the same spot, robbing Dietrich of a shutout.

Benton's wildness in the first inning, plus an error by Shortstop Eddie Lake, gave the White Sox two unearned runs. Thurman Tucker led off with a double to left center for the Sox. Don Koloway was safe at first on Lake's error. Then Benton walked Luke Appling and Hal Trosky, forcing in Tucker with the first run. Koloway scored on Ralph Hodgins' fly to left field.

Greenberg was the only Tiger to get past second base—and he did it twice. In addition to his run, he singled in the sixth, went to second when Dietrich walked Pinky Higgins, and then stole third.

The White Sox scored a third run in the seventh inning after Dietrich had retired because of a stomach ailment. Wally Moses batted for the hurler, singling to right. He went to second on Tucker's sacrifice, and scored on a single by Koloway.

Aside from his wild first inning, Benton pitched almost perfect ball. The Sox rapped him for but six hits, including a double by Dario Lodigiani.

in England.
Woodcock won the amateur and professional titles at that weight, did not weigh much more till last year, when he knocked out Jack London in six rounds in London for the heavyweight crown.

Again unlike most British batters, Woodcock doesn't drink or smoke. He runs 15 miles a day in training. He doesn't like crowds except when the people pay to see him fight, thought Sullivan's popular New York gymnasium, too crowded, which it is.

Woodcock is in good shape, knocked out two opponents this year.
Win, lose or draw, he returns to London following the Mauriello appointment to tackle Freddie Mills, June 4. The distance, 10 rounds, makes that one a non-title match.

Woodcock speaks with the utmost confidence. "If I beat Mauriello," he asserted, "I shall be back in September to meet the winner of the Joe Louis-Billy Conn fight."

"Who else will there be for either of us to fight?"
Asked if he believed he could whip Louis, Woodcock replied:
"Well, I can bawx quite well, punch right hard and I've gotten off the floor and won in a couple of fights. I was never hurt by a punch."
"What else do I need to become heavyweight champion of the world?"
Woodcock is engaged to Nora Speight of Doncaster, a mining community in Yorkshire, population 110,000.
"She wants me to bring her back a satin bathing suit," grinned Woodcock. "No, she didn't mention nylons. She's satisfied with cotton. Besides, I hear you have to stand in queues here to get nylons, and I couldn't do that. She wouldn't want me to."
If he can fight as well as he looks and talks, Bruce Woodcock has a royal chance to become heavyweight champion of the world.
The same thing can be said of Billy Conn, for that matter.

PASSEAU HURLS FIVE-HIT BALL

Wildness Keeps Pirates Pitcher Ed Albosta In Hot Water

Pittsburgh, April 23 (P)—Billy Cox, rookie Pittsburgh shortstop, let a grounder go through him in the eighth inning today to break a 1-1 tie and help the Chicago Cubs to a 3-1 victory before 8,224 fans.

The veteran Claude Passeau hurled five-hit ball and struck out seven.

Ed Albosta, of the Pirates, also gave up but five hits, but wildness kept him in hot water. Albosta, together, he walked 10 men and forced in the third Chicago run in the 9th.

LATE SPORT BEATS REDS

Cincinnati, April 23 (P)—The St. Louis Cardinals spurted for two runs in the eighth inning today to defeat the Cincinnati Reds 3-2 and take the second successive game of a three-game series. Redlegs got both their runs by way of circuit cuts.

Nate Andrews, a hard luck pitcher, seemed to have the Cardinal attack solved until the eighth. Then, singles by Marty Marion, Del Rice and Lou Klein, an error by Rookie Second Baseman Bobby Adams and a long fly, put the Cardinals in the lead to stay.

NO-HIT, NO-RUN

Brooklyn, April 23 (P)—Ed Head, an ex-GI from Louisiana who hadn't pitched a big league ball game since July of 1944, today tossed the first no-hit, no-run effort of the major league season as Brooklyn copped its sixth straight victory, 5-0, over Boston.

There was suspense aplenty as Head came down the stretch. In the seventh, Centerfielder Cal Furilla went way back to the exit gate in deep right center to drag down Tommy Holmes' long drive.

In the ninth after Pinchhitter Charley Workman had walked, Head struck out Connie Ryan and a bullet-like peg by Catcher Ferrell Anderson nailed Workman off first base for an important double play. Head then made Johnny Hopp ground out to second base to complete his bid for fame.

Three men walked and one reached base on an error as Head pitched his heart away for his infant son, born yesterday in Louisiana.

MANAGER EJECTED

Philadelphia, April 23 (P)—After Manager Ben Chapman had been ejected in the first inning by Umpire Tom Dunn, the Philadelphia Phillies knocked starter Harry Philman out of the box and went on to score an 8-1 win over the New York Giants today, squaring their two-game series.

Oscar Judd, who had been belted out early by the Giants opening day, came back to hurl steady nine-hit ball as his mates clubbed Feldman. Kon. Trinkle and Rube Fischer for 12 hits.

Wire Chief 'Sees' A House Moving 200 Miles Away

Toronto (P)—Only radar can outdo Vivian (Wag) Wagner's system of reporting house movements by telegraph in western Ontario. Wag, jovial Canadian Pacific Telegraph wire chief in Toronto, has a periodical headache in offsetting these movements.

It seems that when people in that section can't find work in their own city, they just pack up their houses and move them on rollers to where the work is.

As the houses meet Canadian Pacific telegraph wires at intersections, Wag has to arrange for two or three of his linemen to sit on the roofs of the two-story buildings and lift the wires over.

This lifting causes a "kick" on the telegraph line and this electrical impulse causes the meter needle to jump in Toronto.

Hanging over his meters, Wag exclaimed:
"There goes the chimney of that house down at Samia."
"There goes the center roof."
Another kick. "There goes the kitchen—say, that's a pretty big house."

Householders 200 or more miles away would be surprised to learn a friendly eye at Toronto was keeping tab on their home's progress.

Some thirty-odd years ago, when the wild birds egg collectors were in their heyday, the egg of the California condor had a market value of $750 each.
